

ABSTRACT

A shower head structure disposed in a device 2 for processing a semiconductor while supplying processing gas to a processing space S for storing a heated processed substrate W, comprising a shower head 12 having a plurality of gas injection holes 20B for supplying the processing gas and a light introducing rod 68 of a radiation thermometer 66 inserted into at least one of the gas injection holes 20B.

10